Text A

Entries from the Travellers' Directory Through Ireland written by William Wilson (1786)

Skibbereen is a small market-Town, where the collector, surveyor, and other officers of the port of Baltimore reside. On the west side of the river, is a new-erected church, and in the town

5 a decent market-house. The river Hen runs through the place, over which there is a stone bridge, but so low, as to be sometimes overflowed with floods. The cloathing trade is followed in this place. They have also some share of the 10 linen manufacture, particularly for striped linens and handkerchiefs.

Moira is a well laid out, thriving village, consisting of one broad street, chiefly inhabited by dealers, who carry on the linen manufacture 15 very considerably. At the N. E. end of the town is a handsome, well planted, and full grown avenue, leading to the superb and beautiful seat of the Earl of Moira. The plantations and gardens here are very extensive; the garden is 20 adorned with a handsome labyrinth, ponds, canals and woods.

Within a mile of Swanlinbar, on the R. are the ruins of a church; and 4 miles beyond, on the L. is Florence-Court, the superb seat of Lord 25 Vis¹c.¹ Enniskillen. It is delightfully situated on a rising ground. The house has been built about 24 years, and was erected on the scite of a former one. In the rere the offices are disposed in a sweep. His Lordship's ancestors removed hither from the castle of Enniskillen about 30 seventy years since; before which time this part of the country was unimproved.

Cork contains about 8,600 houses, and upwards of 70,000 inhabitants. It hath twelve companies of foot quartered in the barracks. Besides a stately cathedral, built from the foundation, between 1725 and 1735, by the produce of a duty upon coals, it is adorned with several handsome parish churches. It has also an elegant exchange for the merchants, a new and beautiful custom-house, a town-hall, several fine hospitals, and various other public structures. The city possesses an annual revenue of about 1300l², out of which the mayor enjoys for his salary and 35 the support of his dignity 500l². The wealth and grandeur of Cork arise from its capacious and commodious haven, where almost any number of ships may lie with ease and safety. According to some accounts, when there has been no war, 40 1200 vessels have resorted hither in a year.
